

Psalm 138 is fuel to help us finish what was started and a source of inspiration to give thanks to the One who is making our journey and victory possible.

Finishing what was started: "The LORD _____ fulfill his purpose for me" (138:8a)

- My Creator is a Being of _____ (Isa 46:8-11; 55:10-11; Luke 4:43; John 12:27; 18:37; Eph 3:11-12)
- My Creator has a purpose for _____ (Prov 19:21; Eccl 12:13-14)

Then how can I be confident about the way I finish?

- The _____ of the LORD endures forever (138:8b)
- Though he is high, he regards the _____ (138:6)

Hearing of his purpose and confident of his regard for me...

- I _____ (138:4): "they have heard the words of your mouth."
- I _____ (138:8c): "do not forsake the work of your hands."
- I give _____ (138:1a): "with my whole heart."
- I _____ (138:1b): "before the gods I sing your praise."
- I _____ (138:2): "you have exalted above all things your name and your word," and I _____ myself to his good purpose.
- As a result, I am _____ (138:3): "my strength of soul you increased."

Some will reject the purpose of God for themselves (Luke 7:30). They will not honor him as God or give thanks to him (Rom 1:18-21). They will keep their hearts from him, even allowing their hearts to grow hard (Rom 2:4-5). They will refuse to bow, but what was started will one day be finished (Rom 14:10-12).
